REPORT OF RADIOLOGICAL EXAMINATION.

M 1632 28 July 44

Portable chest — The lung fields are clear. There is no evidence of a metallic f.b.

Abdomen in two directions — There is a metallic f.b. 12 mm in length lying to the right of and anterior to the body of the 4th lumbar vertebra. The right psoas shadow appears to be markedly distended and there are circular foci of decreased density throughout, suggesting free gas within the muscle. Steroscopic films would be advised to rule out overlying bowel shadows.

AUTOPSY REPORT

Lt. Carstairs
Admitted. 27 July 44
Expired 23 Aug. 44 at 1745 hours

Post Mortem. 1000 hours; 24 Aug. 44

ANATOMICAL ~~DIAGNOSIS~~

1. Anaemia due to massive haemorrhage
2. Infected war wound right loin (B. Welchii & B. Coli)
3. Colostomy

SUMMARY:

This officer received a penetrating wound of the abdomen on 14 July 44 with a tear of the ascending colon. A colostomy was performed in France on 15 July 44 following which be appeared to do well. A drain was inserted in retroperitoneal space through excised wound tract. Admitted to 22 Cdn. Gen. Hospital 27 July 44, Colostomy was working well but indications were present of an abscess in the right retro-peritoneal tissues. On 28 July 44, the drainage tract was explored and an infected haematoma drained (Culture B. Welchii and B. Coli) Brisk Haemorrhage occurred which could only be controlled by packing. Continuous bleeding occurred and on 5 Aug. 44 a brisk haemorrhage started. Repacking every 2-3 days necessary with repeated transfusions. 13 Aug. 44 exploration of wound tract attempted in order to suture bleeding points. Because of the extremely friable nature of the tissue in the wound area sutures could not hold; further packing and continuous transfusions were carried out but the patient expired on 23 Aug. 44 from Haemorrhage. At post mortem the patient was found to be completely bled out. A large infected excavated wound was in the right. retroperitoneal tissues. This was lined by extremely friable necrotic tissue. No large bleeding point could be demonstrated nor was the right kidney found. The actual cause of death was anaemia due to the massive continuous haemorrhage.

Signed. (Major Taylor)
