HISTORY AND CONDITION ON ADMISSION

Include in this summary the following data:—
Cause of injury and date.
Particulars of any previous treatment.

HISTORY:

8 Jan 42: At about 2100 hrs. in a fight at Faring Crossing, patient was kicked in the face in the left cuspid region of mandible. Reported to Medical Officer on 9 Jan 42: Detained in R.A.P. with contusions of left "jaw".

11 Jan 42: Sent to Dental Officer who took X-rays which showed frcature of mandible. Dental Officer extracted /5? Kept in R.A.P. where hot applications were made until

16 Jan 42: Transferred to No.1 Cdn General Hospital where further X-rays taken

20 Jan 42: Transferred to Cdn Plastic Surgery Team.

CAUSE OF INJURY: -- Kick - fight

CONITION ON ADMISSION:

Pain: Continuous and considerable in region of left cuspid of mandible. Also in left condyle region.

Tenderness: Over area of left 1st & 2nd bicuspid area. Greatest at inferior border of mandible below 1st bicuspid.

Disability: Cannot chew. Can take liquids only.

Swelling: Large indurated tender area around left side of chin and in sub-maxillary area adherent to mandible.

Discoloration: None.

Displacement: Clinically the mandibular dental arch is in mesial relation to the maxillary teeth. Patient thinks his lower teeth have gone back.

Mobility: Evident in region of 2nd bicuspid.

Crepitus: Not elicited.

Laceration: None evident.

Salivation: Not excessive.

Fetor of Breath: Not particulary evident.

Oral Health: Fairly good.

SPECIAL NOTES AND PLAN OF TREATMENT:

Patient has had a cough for 2 or 3 days which becomes worse at night and has prevented him from sleeping.
The occlusion of this patient is not suitable for wiring as there are spaces between the teeth as well as the malocclusion. In view of the good position of the fragments wiring can be tried and if unsatisfactory will be replaced by a splint.

Re: E4216, Private Jean Paul BOUDREAU
Royal 22nd Regiment (C.A.)

Dear Sir:

With deep regret it is my unhappy duty to inform you that an official report has been received by cable from Overseas advising that your son, the soldier marginally named, died on the 13th day of June, 1942, as the result of a "train accident".

I am desired to express to you the sincere sympathy of the Minister and Members of Defence Council in your bereavement.

Any further information which is received will be at once communicated to you.

Yours very truly,

(H.F.G. Letson),
Major-General,
Adjutant-General.

COPY NOTES OF EVIDENCE TAKEN AT AN INQUEST HELD BY GEORGE WILLS TAYLOR, ONE OF HIS MAJESTY'S CORONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF SURREY, ON THE 17thJUNE, 1942, AT THE BOROUGH HALL, GODALMING, TOUCHING THE DEATH OF JEAN PAUL? BOUDREAU.

Sitting without a Jury.

EMMANUEL ARCHAMBAULT, Sworn Saith, Lieutenant, Royal 22nd Regiment Canadian Army:
I have seen and identified the body of the deceased as that of Jean Paul Boudreau, aged 23 yeard, Private No E4216 Royal 22nd Regiment Canadian Army. He was on leave at the time of his death.

HARRY BOOKHAM, Sworn Saith, of Evergreen, Coombe Lane, Wormley, Surrey, a motor engineer:
On 13.6.43, I was travelling on the 8.27 train from Waterloo to Witley. I was in the last carriage of the second coach, and I had a corner seat with my back to the engine. My wife sat in the opposite corner, facing me. We stopped at Guildford and the carriage filled up, all seats occupied and five people standing. At either Godalming or Milford, I cannot remember which. a soldier got into the carriage just as the train was moving out. He stood close to the door, just where I sat. He appeared to have been drinking. No one took any notice of him and the window of the door was open. When the train was between Milford and Witley he tried to open the carriage doo door. I stopped him and asked him not to interfere with the door, as it was dangerous. He attempted to argue with me, but I refused to argue with him. The next thing was that I heard the latch of the door give and the door open. I put out my hand to pull the door shut and he put his foot up and kicked it open. The door swung wide open and then back again and as it swung back he put his arm round the window frame and swung out with the door. I then heard a thudk and he or the door had hit the brickwork at Wormley Bridge. The train stopped on the Witley Station side of the bridge and he was still hanging on the door when the train stopped. That would be about 9.45 p.m.

FREDERICK OWEN SULLIVAN, Sworn Saith, a Railway Guard, Southern Railway:
On 13.6.42 I was the guard in charge of the 8.27 p.m. electric passenger train from Waterloo to Portsmouth. I was riding in the guard's brake of Coach No 10660 in the centre part of the train. At about three minutes after leaving Milford Station, where the train had stopped,(this would be about 9.47 p.m.) I was looking out the nearside window when I saw a compartment door open about four compartments away, towards the front of the train, and a soldier appeared to be attempting to leave the train. I immediately applied by brake and I looked out again and saw the soldier struck by Wormley Road Bridge. The train stopped about ¼ mile from Witley Station. I alighted and went to the compartment and saw the soldier hanging by his clothing on the window release catch. With assistance from other passengers he was released and removed to the guard's brake, and the train proceeded to Witley Station, where he was handed over to the Station staff. The soldier did not speak during the time I was with him, and he died, in my opinion, before he got to Witley Station.
It was light and clear at the time.
It was the back of his head struck the side of the bridge.
The bridge carries a road.

FRANK COOK, Sworn Saith, Ca rriage and Waggon Examiner, Southern Railway:
I have examined compartment No C10660 in Unit No. 2094, Brake Third, which formed part of the 8.27 p.m. eledtric passenger train from Waterloo to Portsmouth on 13.6.42. The corridor of the coach was on the offside of the train as the train ran into Portsmouth.
I examined the nearside door of compartment No. C10660, and found the window release handle inside bent forward, away from the window, approximately 2½".
On the floor of the compartment under the window I found blood stains.
The nearside door is fitted with a "Kay" type inside-actuated lock, which has a safety catch, and can be opened either from the inside or outside the compartment. I have examined the lock, together with all similar locks in the coach, and found them all in perfect working order. The hinge is forward.

RAYMOND REES, Sworn Saith, Sapper No. 11062905, No 1 R.T.C., R.E.:
On 13.6.42, I was on the train from Guildford to Liss. The train left about 9.30 p.m. I was sitting in a corner seat with my back towards the direction towards which the train was travelling. I was looking out of the window when I saw the head and shoulders of a man come out of the next carriage. He appeared to swing out on the door of the train. The train stopped.

WILLIAM GEORGE BARNARD, Sworn Saith, a Registered Medical Practitioner, Professor of Pathology, St. Thomas's Hospital:
On the Coroner's order I made a post mortem examination of the body of the deceased at Hambledon Mortuary on 15.6.42.
I found the body was that of a well-developed muscular young man.
There was a slightly gaping incised wound 4" long extending from a point level with and 2" behind the left ear, obliquely upwards and forwards in the direction of the right eye. A little brain tissue was lying in the floor of the wound. There were bruises over the left temple and cheek bone, the nose, the right eye.
Internally there was a fracture of the skull with fragmentation of the bone immediately beneath the wound.
Brain. There was much bruising of the posterior half of the brain, with slight pulping of the brain tissue on both sides. There was haemorrhage in the interior fossa of the skull and over the damaged part of the brain.
Heart- normal.
Aorta- slight atheroma.
Lungs- slight congestion and oedema. Pleurae normal.
Stomach- comtents about a pint of slightly digested food with a smell of alcohol.
Liver and gall bladder- normal.
Kidneys- normal.
Bladder- contained about a pint of clear watery urine.
Spleen- lobulated.
Thymus- a little glandular tissue remains.
Adrenals- normal.
He was a healthy man.
The cause of his death was fractured skull and laceration of the brain, and he died as the result of a blow on the back of his head.

(Signed) W.G. Barnard.

VERDICT. Jean Paul Boudreau, aged 23 years, Private No E4216, Royal 22nd Regiment, Canadian Army, died on the railway line near Wormley Road Bridge, Witley, on the 13th June, 1942. The cause of his death was fractured skull and laceration of the brain, due to an impact with the side of a railway bridge when swinging on the door of a compartment of a moving railway train.
